ANIMAL-TYPE LIFECYCLE

WHAT TO DO:

1. Label the diagram with 2n or n at each stage.
2. Identify and label where mitosis and meiosis is occurring.
3. Label the haploid half of the diagram and the diploid half of the diagram.
PLANT-TYPE LIFECYCLE

WHAT TO DO:

1. Identify and label where mitosis and meiosis is occurring.
2. Answer the question following the diagram.

QUESTION: How is the plant-type lifecycle different from the animal-type lifecycle?

____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________